

Employment Fraud Alert

Please know that Toyota does not offer jobs to individuals who do not go through our formal hiring process and does not require payment of recruitment fees from candidates or request personally identifiable information (PII) through unsanctioned Web sites or applications. Please visit our career site for information regarding the application and hiring process: www.toyota.com/careers

If you receive unsolicited offers of employment for Toyota, we recommend that you do not respond, do not open any attachments, and do not click on any hyperlinks. A common scam that criminals have been using is to pretend to be a major corporation and request candidates to install an application and visit a specific Web site to speak to someone at that company. Once someone gets involved, this can be used to take data from their device or socially engineer candidates to submit payments and/or send personally identifiable information (PII) to the bad guys. This is scam that does not use any of these corporations infrastructure and prays upon their customers and future employees.

Again, if you are interested in a job with Toyota, please go to www.toyota.com/careers and apply to any open positions for which you are qualified. You may also contact us at talentlink\_admin@toyota.com.
